

REAL WARLIKE, MILITIA DRILLS WITH PRECISION

Second Regiment Leaves
Tomorrow to Take Up
Coast Defenses.

Battery in Excellent Shape and Maneuvers
With Skill.

CAMP ORDWAY, Bolivar Heights, W. Va., July 19.—Another hard day was put in by the guardsmen on the drill field. Once more the weary lads trudged upon the bloodless field of battle, and for three hours executed warlike maneuvers and looked as though they could chew up any two brigades of a foreign power might line up before them. The most advanced and extended order work was as child's play to the seasoned and unburned men, and they seemed to work mechanically.

The militiamen were given much practice in deploying as skirmishers on the parade ground, and for two hours they did around on their knees and stomachs firing invisible cartridges at the imaginary enemy. Many of the militiamen took precise aim and when asked what they were shooting at, replied: "The cook tent, of course." The soldiers were instructed by Colonel Brett in the art of taking advantage of cover.

Brett Gives Logical Advice.
"Better learn that now," said Colonel Brett, "instead of waiting until you are in your graves to regret your failure to duck behind trees and stones." Colonels Orell and Ourand and Lieutenant Colonels O'Brien and Reichelderfer gave the battalions an hour's work in close formation, and the soldiers were glad to hear recall sounded at 11 o'clock.

The Second Regiment, commanded by Colonel Orell, leaves Camp Ordway tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock. Captain McGonigal's company, of the First Regiment, was selected to make up the twelve necessary commands to complete the regiment. Half the regiment will go to Fort Washington and the other half to Fort Hunt. Part of the command will form the supports at the forts during the maneuvers there, and the remainder will constitute the reserve.

This afternoon the Second Regiment devoted half an hour to close order drilling. This was the last duty these soldiers will perform here, because the remaining nine days of the encampment will be spent on the lower Potomac. All the men of the Second, from Colonel Orell down, say they much prefer remaining here instead of taking up a new line of work, sea coast defense. The brigade band will play the Second from camp to the station. There will be about 600 men in line. The militiamen will journey down the Potomac on the good ship Jane Moseley.

Lectures and Drills.
Officers and enlisted men will this afternoon attend the second lecture on the use of the first aid packages issued to the sergeants of squads for emergency instances. The battalion medical officers will be the instructors. The First Regiment will parade this afternoon.

Captain Fox, commanding the District battery, gave his men and horses a light drill today. The battery was exercised in wheeling into line, columning to the right and left and changing front. The drill was the only one of the day. It is not the intention of Captain Fox or Lieutenant Blakely, the instructor, to overwork the horses for a few days or unfit them for service for the remainder of camp. The militiamen are enjoying themselves today, because the weather is ideal, and they were not much overheated by their three hours' drilling.

Dinner at noon was exceptionally good. It consisted of vegetable soup, chicken, cod fish balls, potatoes, tomatoes, and rice, bread, butter, coffee, and preserves. General Harries today received a dispatch from Commissioners Macfarland and West saying they would be pleased to visit camp next Friday.

Excellent Dress Parade.
Dress parade by the brigade, Thirtieth Cavalry, and two batteries of artillery, attracted a large crowd yesterday afternoon. The infantrymen were at their best, in appearance, marching, and drilling. Colonel Brett, adjutant to General Harries, said he never saw the brigade look better. He was particularly impressed with the dash, snap, and endurance of the brigade. There was no raggedness in the marching and the manual of arms could not have been improved upon.

Spectacular Riding.
General Harries kept the guardsmen on the field but a short time after the

Notes of the Camp

The militiamen barely escaped another drenching at the hands of Jupiter Pluvius during the drill yesterday. Light showers fell during the parade and review, but the militiamen stood like stoics, serenely oblivious of the water fall. They were hurried to their quarters by Colonels Orell, Ourand, and Major Brooks, and a few moments later a hard rainstorm broke over camp.

Most of the members of the Second Regiment were too tired to enjoy themselves last night, because of the practice march they had yesterday morning. Members of the First Regiment, who remained in camp drilling on an unprotected field for three hours during the hottest day of camp, went to Harpers Ferry to celebrate their first dress parade. A vaudeville performance was given for their benefit on the stand near the illuminated arch, erected in honor of the guardsmen, who stand high with residents of Harpers Ferry.

Mayor Dittmeyer, of Bolivar, who complained to General Harries about the conduct of the militiamen while passing through his village, denied that he is a rival of Mayor Garrett, of Glen Echo, Md. "I'm not looking for an international reputation," said the mayor this morning. "While no one in West Virginia is more glad to see the District militiamen than myself, I would like to see them behave as they do in Washington. The town ordinances are to be enforced during camp as well as at other times and they will be stringently adhered to unless there is a radical change in the conduct of the soldiers. Two years ago some soldiers shot out all our arc lights and broke every globe around them. This was expensive to the town and we don't want a repetition of the offense. I

S.S.S. SKIN DISEASES

There is an evaporation from the body going on continually, day and night, through the pores and glands of the skin. This is nature's way of maintaining the proper temperature of our bodies and of preserving the softness and flexibility of the skin, and so long as the blood is free from impurities no trouble will result. When however, the blood, from any cause, becomes infected with humors and impurities these, too, must be expelled, and coming in contact with the delicate tissues and fibres with which the skin is so abundantly supplied they produce irritation and inflammation, and the effect is shown by Eczema, Acne, Tetter, pimples, rashes and skin troubles of various kinds. To effect a cure the blood must be cleansed and purified. This cannot be done with external applications, but requires constitutional treatment. S. S. S. is the best treatment for all skin diseases. It goes down into the circulation, neutralizes and removes the humors and acids and thoroughly cures skin affections of every kind. S. S. S. supplies the blood with the proper nutritive qualities so that the skin instead of being irritated and diseased by unhealthy humors, is fed and sustained by cooling, healthy blood. WOMAN SUES RAILWAYS FOR $10,000 DAMAGES

Catherine B. M. Soter today instituted suit in the District Supreme Court against the Washington Railway and Electric Company and the Anacostia, Potomac River Railroad Company for $10,000 damages for alleged injuries received.

It is stated in the petition filed by the plaintiff that on account of the negligence and carelessness of the motorman on one of the defendant's cars, she was struck and severely injured near the corner of Fourteenth and East Capitol streets. Attorney E. H. Thomas represents the plaintiff.

The police force of Harpers Ferry—Charles Barker, to be exact—says order soldiers "are carrying on something scandalous down here every night." Barker is a good-natured chap, but his patience has been exhausted because of the din and racket of the soldiers and the innumerable pranks they have played on him. "I'll throw every one of them in the calaboose if they don't mind out," said the police force. Barker has a square jaw and determined mouth and bears close resemblance to a man who would do just what he threatened.

"Hello, Navy Yard!" was the first message flashed from the United States Army wireless station on the hill opposite General Harries' headquarters yesterday. This station was erected in remarkable time by a small force of men under Captain Chandler, the war balloon expert of the United States Army. The pole weighed several hundred pounds and measured almost two feet in circumference at its base. Without the proper paraphernalia the squad of signalists planted the pole in half an hour, and yesterday the harp of wires was attached in fifteen minutes, after it was completed. Wireless messages will be sent every day by Captain Chandler's men, who hope to establish communication with other places beside the Navy Yard—in the vicinity of Washington, Fort McHenry, and Norfolk.

More than 100 two-horse teams are running between Harpers Ferry and the camp grounds. The road is mostly uphill and filled with rocks and gullies. Obed, however, prompts the drivers to whip their teams to top speed in order that they may return to the ferry and get other loads. The attention of President Snow, of the Humane Society in Washington, was called to the treatment accorded the horses, and two representatives were dispatched to Harpers Ferry immediately. Shortly after their arrival they caused the arrest of Joseph Strother, the driver of a two-horse team, who was charged with brutally beating his horses and running them uphill with a heavy load. Mayor Shugart stroked his whiskers after hearing the evidence, and then consulted the ordinance on the subject. He finally assessed Strother $50 for his offense and warned him not to repeat it. The humane officers are stationed along the road leading to camp, and threaten to arrest every driver if the brutal practices are not abandoned.

WAGE HARD FIGHT AGAINST SOUTHERN

Attorneys Bitterly Contest
Each Step in Rate
Law Cases.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 19.—At noon counsel in the ticket agent case of the State vs. the Southern Railway, are still addressing the jury. Judge Avery, for the defense, consumed most of the morning.

General Counsel Thom, of Washington, D. C., is to make the closing speech for the defense, and there are three other lawyers to speak for the prosecution and defense. The case may get to the jury this evening, but it will be late. If a conviction is secured, as is generally expected, and defendant refuses, on advice of Southern Railway attorneys, to pay the fine and give bond, then interesting proceedings are expected to follow. It is understood that it is the intention to get the case to the Supreme Court of the United States. It is not believed the railway people are in a great hurry about that—as long as Federal Circuit Judge Pritchard's restraining order and injunction remain in effect. It is possible that the North Carolina Legislature of 1907, which meets eighteen months hence, may assemble and pass another rate bill before the United States Supreme Court settles this case finally. But the question just now is: Will Agent Green here give bond or lie in jail meantime? If he gives bond the Southern will have to back down from the position it took Tuesday last. Cases are today being hauled out all over the judicial district of Randolph county. Several agents of the Southern were indicted today in that section.

DYSPEPSIA

"Having taken your wonderful 'Cascarets' for three months and being entirely cured of stomach catarrh and dyspepsia, I think a word of praise is due to 'Cascarets' for their wonderful composition. I have taken numerous other so-called remedies but without avail and I find that Cascarets relieve more in a day than all the others I have taken would in a year."
